Hello. The story is very good but when I'm almost at the end, a few chapters before it ends, I noticed that there are some information on the story is missing. For example, she went for another international meeting and there's an improvement in their relationship but it's not there, and there's the scenario that she went to visit him in his country. What happened while she's there. Because on the last chapter, she's comparing her current visit to her previous visit. Sorry to say but among your books, this story is not satisfying for me because scenarios are missing which is important for me for building their relationship. I loved this story, but there is such a huge gap of information I know about the parameters in the number of words or pages but all of the sudden there is a lot of information missing. Lots of locations, parts important to the story that I would have loved to read. That's the only reason I didn't give it 5 stars. Long-winded. Great story line but everything was descriptions of how everything look scene taste but didn't let me use my imagination of how the scene would look. A sweet read. An involving storyline, good deeds, some humor, a sexy shiekh, a caring woman, and lots of passion make for one amazing read. I love how Emma and Dharran meet and the instant lust they feel but she realizes he is out of her league and tries to ignore him. But he is a man that doesn't like to be ignored or denied something he wants. They really make a nice caring couple but they have a lot to overcome. Leading to some clashes and make up sex as they learn to compromise. Well written and easy to get absorbed into the characters and their
